Jacquelyn Thompson has worked with singers of all ages and has a passion for choral education as a way to enrich lives through music. She currently conducts Vivace and serves as an administrative assistant for the Cincinnati Youth Choir.

As a versatile educator, Jacquelyn has taught general music, choir, and band for preschool through high school at public and private schools in Iowa. She has also led several community choirs, including a children's choir, an adult women's ensemble, and an active choir of senior adults. Her experience includes teaching methods courses at the collegiate level, conducting college choirs, and serving as a guest clinician for high school choirs in Iowa and Chicago.

She received her Master of Arts in Choral Conducting and Pedagogy from the University of Iowa and her Bachelor of Music Education: Choral K-12 from the University of Northern Iowa. During her training, she also studied voice and has performed as a vocal soloist.

Known for cultivating a supportive and engaging learning environment, Jacquelyn blends technical expertise with creativity to help each student grow musically, working together towards meaningful and inspiring choral experiences.
